Mission

Smartovate's mission is to help businesses, students, and professionals unlock the full potential of cloud computing and artificial intelligence through tailored support, hands-on learning, and real-world implementation. The company supports clients across the full software development lifecycle — from needs analysis to production deployment.

Core Areas of Expertise

Smartovate develops software solutions built on AI and cloud technologies, designing applications adapted to clients' business needs through automation, data processing, and artificial intelligence. Its main service areas include:

1. Web Development — custom web and mobile application development
2. Artificial Intelligence (AI) — AI integration, consulting, and multi-agent systems
3. Cloud Services — deployment, management, and training for Microsoft Azure and AWS
4. Internet of Things (IoT)
5. Cybersecurity & Cloud Infrastructure
6. Technical Training — for students and organizations

It also has a European integration angle, connecting SaaS companies with financial tools/data streams (accounting, banking, invoicing) across Europe, and academic partnerships in France.

Company Culture

Smartovate describes itself as a remote-first company that prioritizes flexibility, using technology to keep a distributed team connected and enabling employees to work from any location.

Summary Positioning

Smartovate is an early-stage (founded 2024), London-headquartered AI and Cloud company. It combines direct client services (AI/cloud consulting, web and mobile development, cybersecurity, technical training) with its own EdTech/HRTech product, Subul, aimed at career development and workforce upskilling. The company has built credibility through a dense network of technology and startup ecosystem partnerships (Microsoft, Cloudflare, Stripe, Deepgram, Cartesia, Atlassian), an ISO/IEC 27001-aligned security posture, and recognition in competitive startup programs (Black Ambition, IPHatch® UK 2025 winner).
